

January 2012

JANUARY GARDENING NEWSLETTER

We hope you enjoyed your holiday season. We had a wonderful family celebration. I don't know about you but January is a great month for a fire and good comfortable chair. It is also a good month for planning. We have many exciting plans for this year. We want to start a mini farmers market. We plan on selling fresh fruits and vegetables. We like to keep our business in South Carolina so our buying will be mostly local. Let me know if you think this would be a good idea. Would you come to Rebekah's Garden, to buy your fruit and vegetables? We will continue to be your local nursery but thought adding fresh food would be welcomed by our customers. I almost forgot we have fresh eggs from a farm in Eastover. If you try these eggs you will be hooked.

JANUARY GARDENING TIPS

- ❖ You still have time to plant your spring bulbs. Do it now and you will enjoy the springtime blooms
- ❖ Deciduous trees can be pruned now. Please do not prune azaleas or hydrangeas because they have already set their blooms.
- ❖ Get the vegetable garden ready. Turn the soil. This will expose insect eggs to the cold temperature. Good for us and good for the birds.
- ❖ Speaking of birds – Please keep your bird feeders full. Snow or ice can make for a hungry bird.

We have a sale on our pansies and violas. The flats were $16.00 and are now reduced to $9.00. We have a good assortment of both ornamental vegetables and pansies.

Please support your small business folks. The small Mom and Pop's stores are becoming scarce. Chances are you will not be paying more with local stores versus large chains. We thank you for your business.

God Bless,

Bill & Rebekah Cline

FROM OUR FARM TO YOUR HOME

Happy New Year!